TO THE NATIONAL SCRIP COLLECTORS ASSOCIATION

SUBJECT: N.S.C.A. RULES FOR THE SALE OF A DECEASED MEMBERS COLLECTION.

PREAMBLE:

Some of our members have been collecting coal and lumber tokens many years. I'm sure most early collectors would admit they received many of their scrip tokens free and paid only a small sum for the ones they purchased.

During the past few years scrip tokens have increased in value at a rapid pace. As more collectors become knowledgeable as to the actual rarity and value of scrip, the prices should continue to increase. Also, supply and demand is causing the prices to go up.

Today there are numerous collectors who have a scrip collection with a value anywhere from $5,000. to $25,000. and they are still growing in size and value. We believe more people would be interested in investing in this growing hobby of scrip collecting if they had a way to protect their investment in case of death.

To help protect the financial investment of N.S.C.A. members, your committee recommends the following.

RECOMMENDATION:

Rules for selling a collection of a deceased N.S.C.A. member.

1. Deceased must have been a paid up member at time of death.
2. The estate of the deceased member must send a written request to the editor of "Scrip Talk".
3. Only coal and lumber collections of 1,000 pieces or more will be sold. Duplicate tokens may be sold along with a collection. (Anyone having less than 1,000 tokens in their collection can sell them in the regular N.S.C.A. bid sales.)
4. Collections can only be sold in regularly published "Scrip Talk" bulletins.
5. Editor of "Scrip Talk" will determine the number of bid sales required to list any collection in its entirety.
6. Written inventory should be furnished by the estate of the deceased with the following information:
 - a. Name on the token(s) listed alphabetically.
 - b. Town and state (unless unknown).
 - c. Denomination(s)
 - d. Type material (brass, copper, white metal, aluminum, zinc, plastic, fiber, paper, etc.) punch marks and manufacturer.

E. Determine the selling prices of all catalogs and methods of distribution in relation to members, non-members, associations, jobbers, institutions, etc. F. Handle all advertising in applicable type publications. G. One member to be bonded who will handle all funds. H. Members of NSCA will be solicited to subscribe money for a pre-publication, non-interest bearing note, in order that payments to the printer are assured. This subscription to be eventually returned in full; provided sales and profits will permit. I. Receipts of sale of catalogs to be deposited to interest bearing account (s) and to be disbursed equally in pre-determined increments concurrently to each subscriber as inventory is sold. J. The Catalog Committee to consist of five members in good standing; four of whom are to be appointed by the President - two for three year terms and two for two year terms. The current elected President of NSCA to serve on the committee during his term of office. K. A publication fund of approximately $2,000. will be retained in an interest bearing account and is to be expended only for out of pocket expenses on future published changes and additions as authorized by the Catalog Committee. When this fund exceeds $7,000., the excess amounts shall be transferred by the Catalog Committee to the NSCA general fund for organization expenses. This fund is to be known as the Edkins Publication Fund.

Following proper motion, the above recorded Catalog Committee information was approved and made a matter of record of the By-Laws of the organization.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of the deceased members of the organization since the last meeting: C. A. Coulter - Bill Light - and Louie Crawford.

A discussion followed on the NSCA rules for the sale of a deceased members collection. Following proper motion, the report of the committee was adopted and made a matter of record in the By-Laws of the organization. A copy of the adopted information is made a part of the minutes of this meeting and is attached hereto.

The ANCIL DONOHOE MEMORIAL AWARD for the best article published in SCRIP TALK during the past twelve months was presented to Mr. & Mrs. Raymond Cole of Williamson, W.Va., for their poem on coal scrip. A large walnut hand-made trophy was presented by Chairman John Fliss.

Secretary Walter Caldwell announced that Paul Mace of Cleveland, Ohio had won the trophy for signing the most new members during the past twelve months. Runners-up were: Bill Matheny, James R. Cooper, R. W. Colbert, Paul Jensen, Harold Lee, Keith Mortimer, Sam Nicholls and Joe Schmidt.

Following a report by the Nominations Committee and an election, the following new officers were elected for a two year term: PRESIDENT - John Fliss - VICE-PRESIDENTS - Fred Lange, Dr. Charles Evans, and Bill Williams; SECRETARY-TREASURER - Walter Caldwell.

R. R. Tippy thanked the membership for the fine support given him during the past year and President John Fliss remarked on some of the things that he hopes to accomplish during his term of office. He urged that every member of the organization should help to carry the work load to insure the future success of the group. President Fliss noted that all new committee appointments would be announced in the immediate future.

A discussion followed on the publication costs of SCRIP TALK - it being noted that to this point no dues money had gone toward cost of the publication. It was noted that each issue costs a minimum of $204.00 not counting any cost of secretarial help or editor time costs. Following proper motion, it was voted to increase the cost of annual dues to $5.00 - $3.00 of which will go toward the publication expense and $2.00 to the general fund of NSCA. The dues increase will be effective on July 1, 1977 for all new members with no additional cost until January 1, 1979. All present members will pay $5.00 effective January 1, 1978.

Following proper motion, the By-Laws were amended to include: "All past Presidents of NSCA shall be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee".

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

The TENTH ANNIVERSARY meeting of the NATIONAL SCRIP COLLECTORS ASSOCIATION was held on SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1977, at 1:30 P.M. at Pipestem State Park, Pipestem, West Virginia. President R. R. Tippy ascertained the presence of a quorum for the transaction of business. All officers of the organization were present for the meeting.

The following members - attending for the first time - were introduced: Al Ziaka, Richard Siepelt, Darrell Crotty, Neville Brugh, and Bill Matheny. Following proper motion, it was voted to dispense with the reading of the minutes - a copy having been published in Scrip Talk previously.

The agenda opened with a discussion on the pending book on coal scrip. Don Edkins - the editor - spoke on the format of the book noting that it would contain approximately 475 pages and would list information on over 10,300 coal tokens including metal composition - size - correct wording of company name - cut out (if any) and manufacturer information. Approximately 2,500 various cut-outs will be illustrated and the one volume publication will be of approximate 6 x 9 size. Another important feature will be a RARITY SCALE based on a survey of every known major collection of scrip. The scale will be from R-1 to R-10 based on the number of pieces estimated to currently be in collector's hands. It was noted that this book could serve as a valuable guide since each collector could note (if desired) each particular item in his collection in the book.

Cole S. Cuttle reported on the various contacts being made with publishers and announced that an availability goal of the fall meeting is being attempted. Members of NSCA will have first service on the book and information on advance orders will be presented probably in the next issue of SCRIP TALK for the benefit of all members. Advertising information will be sent to all major coin and token publications. It was noted that TAMS (Token and Medal Society) had promised a free ad in the TAMS JOURNAL in regard to the book and had agreed to make available a mailing list of their members since this book will be a valuable addition to the token field.

Still in regard to the book, John Fliss reported on the publication financing noting that the typing of the manuscript was complete and the typing cost of $700.00 had been paid from NSCA funds as voted. Too, he noted that $1400.00 of the pre-publication sum needed by the publisher had come from NSCA funds. He reported that $3000.00 additional was needed to meet the goal and members present quickly presented checks in amounts of $100. to $500. to meet the entire amount needed. The funds presented will be returned to the members - without interest - from profits from the book sales. It was announced that approximate selling price of the publication will be $15.00 for advance sales, however, members were urged to wait until information is presented in SCRIP TALK before sending in payment for advance orders.

A discussion followed on a revision in the By-Laws to include a Publication Committee. Following proper motion, the By-Laws were amended to include the following: 1. Establish a CATALOG COMMITTEE whose responsibilities would include: A. The compilation and approval of all data for catalog purposes that meet the established criteria of the approved definition of coal scrip - including rarity. B. Maintain records on a continuing basis for the purposes of recording necessary revisions and 'new-finds'. C. Publication of the initial issuance plus any supplements that may be required in the future. This functional assignment will include the awarding of contracts to vendors. D. Prior to the awarding of any contracts, three bids must be received by the committee. Normally, the bid will be awarded to the low bidder, providing all conditions are on "as equal" basis.

No information in the I-S Co. files show if anyone was arrested in reference to this fake scrip. Junior Mercantile used the tokens in the Kanawha and Logan fields. Evidently, ICS and Osborne tokens were then used in the Elkins area stores by the same company. Just one year earlier, a big order for tokens had been filled by Osborne Register Co. for these stores.

The Ingle-Schierloh stamping works had made more than 149,000 pieces of scrip for the many Jr. Mercantile Co. stores through the years. The $1, .50, .25 and dime were escolloped. Since so few of the dollars exist today, no check has been made to determine if any of the dollars are spurious. Due to the reason that my $1.00 piece has been checked personally, I'll be glad to compare any others to see if they are genuine.

KOPPERS STORES INC.

Perhaps one of the best examples for counterfeiting of scrip was that of the Koppers tokens of the $1 variety. With only a few minor flaws, the dollar could not be detected easily by sight. The metal type was close to the real dollar as was the thickness. In fact, the fake remained in usage for many years.

Wiley Osborne related to me a few years ago the fact that this effort at counterfeiting was the only one that cost his company an appreciable amount of money. I'm sorry today that I didn't examine the facts concerning the stamping of the fake tokens more in depth. Particularly as to what change in the dollar was made for the newer dollar coin. I now wonder if the square dollar was the result.

Osborne related the fact that it cost his concern $1500 to make the Koppers replacement. I have seen information concerning this attempt, but did not review it in any detail. All I remember today is that the criminals were tried and convicted. Keep in mind the info that the man who attempted to make the Pond Creek Pocahontas scrip also tried to get Koppers dies and tokens made.

The differences between the genuine and fake include the weak KS engraving within the punch and the fact that the 1 in 100 on the reverse touches the marks at the top of the counterfeits. Another difference is that the middle of the fake scrip piece is so weakly struck. The size of the "0" for the counterfeit's reverse 100 is somewhat larger than the genuine.

FORDSON COAL CO.

When I started collecting in 1968, someone told me that the $5 pieces for the Fordson Coal Co. had been counterfeited. At the time, I knew that there were two different dollar pieces, but only one $5 piece.

I later learned that all of the 1.00 7 5.00 pieces were taken in around 1933 and a new dollar coin made its appearance. There were no $5 tokens for this coal company thereafter. The new 1.00 piece had the Lincoln bust on the obverse, as we look at it.

Of the 13,000 dollars struck by Orco, only two are known to be in collector's hands today. The writer has one and Col. Caldwell has the other.

Perhaps one of our members in the Williamson, W. Va. and Stone, Ky. area can fill us in on this matter. If there are fakes, I do not know whether I have the real coin or the counterfeit.

SPEAKING OF SCRIP

By Robert W. "Bob" Craigo

In the Question & Answer part of Scrip Talk last issue, John F. mentioned counterfeiting of scrip and noted an attempt to duplicate Accoville Store Co. tokens. Many other efforts to do the same for other coal concerns have been attempted or done. We will try to present the stories about some of these attempts.

Since these will be done off the top of my head, please excuse us if we don't talk about all of the counterfeiting efforts. The earliest scrip I have that was counterfeited was the $1.00 piece of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. in the early 1920's. This token was one that could be detected by looking at the PFCo punch. The fake coin had the 1.00 amount much wider in spacing than the genuine. There also was a marked difference in the spacing of the words CREDIT CHECK at the bottom. Also, the striking of the counterfeit was not as sharp as the real coin.

POND CREEK POCAHONTAS

A counterfeiting effort which didn't succeed was the Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal Co., at English and Bartley, W. Va. The man who had the dies made went to prison, but none of the tokens got into circulation. The dies, made by a stamping outfit from another area than Ohio, were seized by police.

The one big change brought on by the counterfeiting attempt was the changing of the dollar pieces from that using a PP punch to one using a flower design resembling a hexagon. Then too, the metal was changed from white to brass. A complete set for this Coal Co. store would have to have both of these dollars. The obverse of the new dollars had the name of the commissary on three lines and not going around the edge as the original dollar did. This effort to counterfeit was in 1937.

The disabled shoemaker living at War, W. Va. had several months earlier attempted to counterfeit Koppers scrip, failing only when a Kansas City token firm refused to fill the order after taking a deposit from the McDowell County shoemaker. The deposit money was returned in the form of a check. The people involved then returned to War. A few weeks later another attempt was made in Kansas City to get dies and checks made, but the results again were negative.

A few months later, this man went to New York City to get dies made. This time, he succeeded in getting the work done. The cost, according to his confession, was $165.00. The shoemaker then went back to War. A few days later, this person was arrested for his attempt. Scrip from the dies was never made. Both Wiley Osborne and J. H. Schierloh came to Welch to examine the dies. Both noted that making this scrip without a 200-ton press was unlikely. They also stated that the dies had not been used.

JUNIOR MERCANTILE Co.

Just one year before, in 1936, Junior Mercantile Stores turned in 2401 spurious dollars to the Ingle - Schierloh Company. Jerry H. Schierloh replaced these coins for the sum of $32.40 for W. Va. Coal & Coke Co., who owned the Junior Mercantile Co. stores. Not much is known about the counterfeiting effort other than a close comparison of the scrip with the dies determined these tokens were fakes.

RARITY SCALE INFORMATION

With the arrival soon of the new book on coal scrip, many of our newer members will hear "R1", "R5", "R10", etc. being used in connection with the listed tokens.... Too, if you attended the Pipestem meeting, you know that portions of a major coal token collection were sold using the "R" or Rarity Scale to determine the value of the items being sold.

To enable you to become somewhat familiar with this information, the following is being reprinted from the February 1973 issue of SCRIP TALK. Please note that the prices shown herein may not be the figures that will be used in the Edkins book. The information is being presented to give you a basic knowledge of the system for your future use...

The rarity scale to be used in the book results from many years of study on the various coal tokens available for the collector. It came into being following a survey of every known major collection of coal scrip tokens. Too, the scale will be used on tokens that are non-mutilated, circulated condition on which the obverse and reverse can be read and the die type is clearly discernable.

Non-matched set prices (where the various denominations were made by different companies or O1, O2, etc. denominations are in the same set) can be determined by pricing the individual items in the set.

Too, you should be forewarned that R-10 items can quickly change to R-1 status when a presently unknown quantity of a particular token emerges from a "long-time" hiding place !! These things do happen so buy with caution and expect to be "burned" occasionally (as have all of the token collectors that I know).

Number of pieces known	Value of single token	Set value - 5 pieces 5¢ thru $1	Rarity Scale
300 or more	.50	3.00	R-1
200 to 299	.75	4.50	R-2
150 to 199	1.00	6.00	R-3
100 to 149	1.50	9.00	R-4
75 to 99	2.00	12.00	R-5
50 to 74	2.50	15.00	R-6
25 to 49	5.00	30.00	R-7
10 to 24	7.50	45.00	R-8
5 to 9	10.00 or more	60.00 or more	R-9
1 to 5	15.00 or more	80.00 or more	R-10

Please note that a five piece set is priced higher than 5 times the individual item. This accounts for the increased difficulty in obtaining a set of this particular company.. Too, you should be forewarned that all (in every likelihood) mail auction sales will show only the reference number in the book and possibly the rarity scale code number on a particular token. This will eliminate much work on the typist so it is important that you plan to buy one or more copies of the book... A word of caution: I understand that the initial order will be for only 1000 copies of the book so they should go fast - what with thousands of token dealers and collectors across this great country waiting to buy a copy.... Thus, your mail sale listing might say only: John Doe Coal Company - No. A49 - Rarity 10... you might miss a good buy by not having a copy of the book!! This listing might have been for a 9¢ brass Childs mint - strawberry cut-out -gold token from the John Doe Coal Company - the only one known....and you missed getting it for $3.75 in the sale.... (I can dream can't I ?).....

NRCO SCARBRO SCRIP

Just about the poorest scrip counterfeiting effort made must be the one of the Scarbro No. 2 store. How anyone could pass it off as genuine, is hard to understand!

The tokens are so thin, about 22 gauge; poorly struck, and the 2 punch is much too large. These I have heard that it fooled some not too alert store clerks.

Scarbro's counterfeits gained one very significant "honor" from all other fakes in that they were struck in a full set of $5.00 to the nickel. One must consider the fact that the culprit might have been practicing his skill as a die sinker, or that income was of very short supply in his household.

What's New...

BEING A LISTING OF SOME OF THE RECENT NEW FINDS IN COAL AND LUMBER TOKENS AS REPORTED BY OUR READERS !! We hope that you will continue to report these new finds so that all members can add these names to their lists of available items.....

C O M I N G N E X T I S S U E !!!

THE ANCIL DONOHOE COLLECTION FOR FINAL AUCTION SALE !!!

As many of you are aware, the late Ancil Donohoe spent many years in forming two great coal and lumber token collections for his two children!! We previously sold collection Number One which featured many, many scarce coal and lumber tokens and this collection realized many thousand dollars as you can verify from the prices realized.. Now, the family has authorized the sale of collection Number Two and this will start in the next issue of SCRIP TALK... Collection Number Two is only slightly less in value from the first collection and features many, many coal and lumber tokens that may probably never be offered at auction again !! If you missed out on the first sales, be sure and watch for the thousands of tokens in collection Number Two !!

We are busy now getting this GREAT collection in order and will start the listings next issue !! So that more of our readers will have an opportunity to buy, we will list only a few hundred each issue - as before - and in looking over this material, we note that only the best obtainable pieces available from each company were placed in the collection !! Too, Ancil had marked most of the material with either his cost price or an average present value price and this information will be presented with each portion of the listings !!

With the BOOK coming soon, we urge that you take advantage of this opportunity to acquire coal tokens before the WORLD becomes aware of the coal token field !! Every coin publication tells us that tokens are the coming collector's first choice and we feel that coal tokens will be a GOOD investment in addition to being a prime general hobby field !!
